

Post Conference Workshop Indigenous Art as Medicine

Our Joint Journey Towards Reconciliation

Join us for an interactive in-person full-day workshop to explore how art can foster and promote healing and reconciliation.

Learn about principles of Anishinaabe pedagogy as an experiential learning journey and explore the place of Indigenous art in medicine.

Participants will experience:

- an installation of the Shkagamik Kwe G'nandwogonah Exhibit
- their own creativity using various fine art media in guided activities
- a creative space for Indigenous and non-Indigenous peoples to reflect on a shared journey towards wellness and reconciliation
- Indigenous art, photography, video and practices as a knowledge sharing approach to stimulate dialogue around Indigenous peoples' lives, culture, and experiences.
- an enhancement of their understanding of culturally safe dialogue, education and care

The workshop is co-led by:

Internationally renowned Odawa artist & knowledge
keeper Randy Msheekahn
Trudeau

NOSM U founding faculty member
Dr. Marion Maar Medical
Anthropologist & Arts-based Researcher

When: Saturday June 25, 2022 from 9 am to 4 pm

Where: Indigenous Sharing and Learning Centre, Laurentian University, Sudbury ON
Lunch, snacks, and art supplies will be provided
(CME Professional Development Accreditation Pending)

This one-credit-per-hour Group Learning program meets the certification criteria of the College of Family Physicians of Canada and has been certified by the Continuing Education and Professional Development Office at NOSM University for up to 5.5 Mainpro+ group learning credits.

This event is an Accredited Group Learning Activity (Section 1) as defined by the Maintenance of Certification Program of the Royal College of Physicians and Surgeons of Canada, and approved by the Continuing Education and Professional Development Office at NOSM University. You may claim a maximum of 5.5 hour(s) (credits are automatically calculated).

ALL WELCOME!

No artistic skills or art background required, just an open heart & mind.

Attendance is Free to all interested in reconciliation.

Click here to register

Questions? Please email Dr. Marion Maar at mmaar@nosm.ca